reference to Penians and Penli-drawn milder, his personal safety was thus endangered.
Total number of landed proprietors
according to the census of 1861 of whom less than half, viz. 4,044
were Roman Catholics
the Protestant dissenters.

He repudiated the idea that any man should be subjected to injury on mere suspicion of his guilt.

Motion withdrawn.

Hon. Mr. Macdonald moved for correspondence respecting complaints against the Corporation of Pilots for and below the harbor of Quebec, Que. Carried.

Mr. Bolton moved for copies of petitions sent to the Privy Council, in reference to the Select Committee to appoint a route for the Intercolonial Railway. Carried.

Hon. Mr. Chabreau moved to refer papers and correspondence respecting the Corporation of Pilots for and below the harbor of Quebec, to a committee of seven, consisting of Messrs. Campbell, Dunkin, Gray, Caswell, Parker, and the mover.

Mr. John A. Macdonald introduced a bill respecting fishing by foreign vessels, which, he explained, merely extended the present laws to the Maritime Provinces, respecting light houses, buoys, and beacons, and relating to sick and distressed mariners.

The bill securing an indemnity to certain persons sitting and voting in the House, while holding office under the Crown, on motion of Mr. Mills, was read a third time and passed.

On motion of Mr. Oliver, the report of the Committee of the Whole, recommending the reduction of the Governor General's salary to $32,000, was concurred in on a division.

Mr. Duffness begged leave to introduce a bill fixing his Excellency's salary.

Hon. Mr. Duffness introduced the responsibility of introducing such a bill should be left to the Government, who were not justified in ignoring the overwhelming vote of the House.

Mr. Duffness wished to leave the matter with the Government, if they would undertake to deal with it.

Sir John A. Macdonald did not think the Government were constitutionally bound to introduce a measure to which they were opposed, but they had a respect for the opinions of the House, and would, therefore, offer every facility for the passage of any bill any member might introduce.

Mr. Morris withdrew his bill for carrying into effect capital punishment, with a proviso, stating that he would re-introduce it, by which time the House would be in possession of the debate on a similar bill before the Imperial Parliament.

The bill to amend chapter 104 of the Consolidated Statutes of Lower Canada, in so far as the same relates to the measurement and discharge of coal, was read a second time and referred to the Committee on Banking and Commerce.

Mr. Morrison presented the petition of G. T. Denison, of Toronto, praying for an investigation into the circumstances of the seizure of the propeller Georgian, in 1865, and on motion of the same gentleman the petition was referred to a Special Committee to report thereon.

Mr. Chamberlain introduced a bill to incorporate the Richelieu and Passumpsic Railway Company, which was read a first time and referred to the Railway Committee.

On motion of Mr. Thos. Workman, the bill from the Senate for the relief (divorce) of Joseph Frederick Whitehead, was read a first time. He then moved to refer the bill to a Special Committee. Several Opposition members expressed opposition to the principle of the bill.

Hon. Mr. Holton expressed himself opposed to dealing with such legislative, instead of judicial, a division being taken after a discussion, the motion was carried—yeas 78, nays 67.

Mr. Godin moved the second reading of the Act to limit the rate of interest.

Hon. Mr. Ross asked that the bill be deferred, as the Government had given notice of bringing the subject before the House.

Mr. Masson (Soulange) opposed. The Government had once promised such a bill, but never brought it in.

Hon. Mr. Dunkin said this was not correct. In 1860 a bill was brought in, and it went to shipwreck, and since then the Government could never be brought to take up the subject. The present law is based on money to the country, and he hoped the House would wait for the bill promised by the Finance Minister.

The debate was then adjourned to Friday next.

On motion of Sir John A. Macdonald, the House went again into Committee on the Act for the Better Security of the Crown and Government, which was reported with some amendments, and ordered for a second reading.

Special Notices.

A PLACE for everything, and everything in its place. A time for all things, and everything in season. This is true, for the Spring of the year is the time to remove obstructions from the system, and to give the blood, and thereby restore the dormant powers of the system. Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Indigestion, and all the ailments of the system, are cured by the use of the Sarsaparilla. In every case of disease, the Sarsaparilla is the best remedy.

Why do you Hesitate?

Why wait the first attack of disease which may be cured by the use of the Sarsaparilla, until it has become a chronic complaint, and is no longer curable? At this moment of spring, the system is weak, and the blood is impure, and the organs are diseased. The Sarsaparilla is the best remedy for all these ailments.
